

V. RATER'S COMMENTS FACTS AND SPECIFIC ACHIEVEMENTS: SrA Hensley is a highly skilled and dedicated airman. He completes all tasks assigned to him in an efficient and professional manner. While assigned to the floor crew of the Structural Repair and Inspection shop, SrA Hensley rebuilt the floor hinges and adjacent floor sections of a Mobile Air Transportable Hospital (MATH) unit. This required him to evaluate the damage and develop a feasible repair for the badly damaged structure. Through the use of advanced bonding techniques and modern aircraft fastening systems, he brought a badly needed asset back to operational status. SrA Hensley's know-how and can-do attitude on this project greatly enhanced the squadron's and the Hospital's mission capabilities. He also completed several repairs on Harvest Bare assets involving multiple structural and substructural damage. These were completed with the same high degree of quality and craftsmanship.

STRENGTHS: SrA Hensley's can-do attitude is his greatest asset. His determination to complete even the most complicated repair is an inspiration to his co-workers.

OTHER COMMENTS: SrA Hensley's bearing and behavior is always above reproach. He is courteous and professional both on and off-duty. He is constantly aware of the image he reflects to the civilian community as a military member. He is of good character and maintains high personal standards and morals. He has a high sense of mission accomplishment, and strives to attain the utmost in quality workmanship. I strongly recommend promotion.

SrA Hensley's professional attitude and pride in his status and accomplishments are major attributes to his work center and the Air Force. He constantly strives to better his work environment through self-help projects such as building an additional wall in the front office. This added more controlled and efficient office space. I recommend promotion.

SrA Hensley unselfishly gives of himself to improve the relationship between the Air Force and the civilian community. Through projects such as "Saturday in the Park", SrA Hensley's hard-work and dedication have vastly improved the image the civilian community has of today's Air Force. Promotion is strongly recommended.
